frustrated and low water would both be less common, the climate would be tempered, the extreme of heat and cold being less marked and the weather would be more regular and less capricious and regular, nature would lose its foothold, while every grove would be a sanctuary for the weary denizens of city and town.

—One of the horses attached to the west side fire engine, during the excitement of hitching up for the fire on Saturday evening, became frightened, and before the driver, Mr. Elmer Main, got into the seat, flew around one of the horse carts, cutting one of his legs very badly. —The funeral of the late Carl F. Carlson took place at his late residence on North Main street, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and was attended by a very large concourse of friends, many of whom brought beautiful wreaths of flowers and placed them upon the coffin. The solemn service was conducted by Rev. W. F. Brown, of the Presbyterian church, whose remarks were very able and appropriate to the occasion. The song service was beautifully rendered by a quartet consisting of Mrs. J. H. Kibbey, Mrs. C. W. Taylor, Mr. W. H. Blair, and Mr. J. G. Saxford. At the conclusion of the services the remains were taken to Oak Hill cemetery for burial, followed by a very large procession, there being over seventy carriages in the line. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Charles Tall, M. Johnson, John Ains, C. Hanson, John Thoroughgood and Jacob Nelson.

CHICAGO.

Our Blaine and Logan club at its meeting Saturday night made arrangements for being on hand Thursday afternoon and evening with a full quota. A resolution was passed strongly disapproving of the granger mass convention, which is evidently a democratic scheme for disaffecting republican farmers, so as to defeat our republican nominee for assembly. This district certainly wants no democrat to represent them in the legislature.

GRAND DEMONSTRATION.

On Thursday and the Torch Light Procession in the Evening.

The Arrangements Being Completed for a Grand Gathering.

The Line of the Procession in the Evening.

A Grand Illumination of the Streets Along the Line.

The detailed arrangements for the grand Blaine and Logan demonstration on Thursday and Thursday evening of this week, are rapidly approaching completion, and the indications are that the original plans of the committee will be carried out, and their estimates as to the number in attendance will be more than at first anticipated. It will be the largest torch light procession ever held in Wisconsin. The political meeting in the afternoon will be a grand affair, but by all odds the demonstration in the evening will cap the climax. The committees are all hard at work completing the little details that all will move along in perfect harmony. Owing to the late hour in which some of the special trains arrive the torchlight procession will not form until 7:30 o'clock in the evening. Chief Marshal Atwood has fixed upon the following line of march:

The mounted men will form on Center Avenue, right resting on Holmes street, and be ready to move at 7:30 o'clock.

The foot troops will form on Academy Pleasant and Main streets, right resting on West Milwaukee. Other streets may be used in forming the line, in which case the information will be given by the marshals.

The procession will move down West Milwaukee street to Main; south on Main street to South Second; east on South Second street to East; north on East street to Milton Avenue; north on Milton Avenue to Harmony street; west on Harmony street to Cornelia street; north on Cornelia street to Glen; west on Glen street to Bluff; south on Bluff to North Second; west on North Second to Main; south on Main to Milwaukee; west on Milwaukee to Jackson; north on Jackson to Washington street; south on Washington to Bluff; east on Bluff to Madison; north on Madison to Academy street; south on Academy street to West Milwaukee; east on West Milwaukee to river, thence to the armory of the Janesville Invariables.

Marshal Atwood has appointed Messrs. Wilson Lane, M. A. Newman, B. H. Baldwin, C. E. Pierce, C. E. Hanson and B. F. Crockett, as assistant marshals of the parade.

Those democrats who desire to count the procession will have an opportunity to do so, and would suggest that they count as the procession passes the post office going to the east side of the river.

Marshals Atwood (has reserved information that Belvidere will be here with one company of one hundred men, uniformed, under command of Captain C. B. Loop.

General R. E. Osgood will also come with a mounted company of fifty uniformed men, men and horses well drilled.

A company of twenty-five ladies, on horseback, in uniform, will also come from Belvidere. The uniform of the ladies consists of black dress, red, white and blue baidric, black tie, hats and white plumes. This company of ladies will be given the right of the column. They will all send their horses, overland on Thursday morning, the ladies and gentlemen coming on the special train.

Captain Patrick, with one hundred uniformed men from Marengo, reports that he will be present.

A company of one hundred uniformed men from Rockton also word that they want a place in the procession.

Major Thomas Lawler, of Rockford wants room for eight hundred men, all in uniform or in full brigade.

Beloit will be on hand with six hundred men, and Clinton sends word that they will be here with two hundred men.

Other towns and cities have not yet been officially heard from, but are working up a good boom to be on hand with large numbers.

ILLUMINATION.

Marshal Atwood and the republican committee confidently expect that all republicans residing along the line of march will illuminate their residences and places of business. Handsome Blaine and Logan transparencies, suitable for windows, can be procured of Messrs. Bro's, on West Milwaukee street for 25 cents per pair. These transparencies, with the Chinese lanterns will make a very handsome display.

The greatest foe of American people is consumption; its victims number many thousands each year. Physicians and druggists have at last found a remedy which they feel justified in recommending. MRS. MORRISON'S HOME.

Is Devoiced by the Flames—Lives Fully Covered by Insurance.

On Saturday evening at 7:45 o'clock the fire department received an alarm of fire by telephone, the message stating that the fire was west of the Chicago and Northwestern road house, in the fifth ward. The fire broke through the alarm and away went the fire department pell mell up West Milwaukee street, the engines, hose carts and hook and ladder truck forming the nucleus of an exciting procession in which several thousand citizens joined, bringing up the rear.

Arriving at the Northwestern road house the firemen discovered that the fire was in a small dwelling house on Palm street, some four or five blocks to the west; the railway tracks of both roads intervening between the Northwestern tank and the burning house, no water could be obtained at the tank, and the department pushed ahead in hopes of finding a cistern in the immediate locality, but they were disappointed, and were compelled to stand by and see the flames destroy the building. The house belonged to Mrs. Catherine Morrison, and was insured in the Sun, of London, for three hundred dollars; there was an insurance of four hundred dollars on the furniture and wearing apparel in the same company, which is the oldest stock insurance company in the world, and is represented in this city by Messrs. Dimock & Hayner. The loss on the house is fully covered by the $300 insurance. Some of the household goods were removed, but to what extent we are unable to state, but should judge that the insurance of four hundred dollars would fully cover the loss.

The cause of the fire is not known, but Mrs. Morrison thinks that it was set on fire by a cat tipping over an oil lamp which she left burning on the table. The table was standing close to a window, one of the lights of glass being broken out, through which the furnace had its entrance and exit to the house. Mrs. Morrison was absent from home at the time, and the above is the only way she can account for the fire. The hook and ladder and sack company did some excellent work at the fire in saving adjoining property. There was an immense crowd of people present, the largest we have seen in a long time at fire so far out in the suburbs.

Don't fail to attend the Burr Robbins Circus October 15th.

Grandiose Feast.

To the Editor.

The writer wishes to make a suggestion to the gentlemen who have in charge the arrangements for the republican demonstration on Thursday next. It is that they take adequate measures to prevent violent and indecent assaults on the procession by the vagrants and hoodlums who will crowd the sidewalks on the line of march. It is a peculiar and significant fact that no republican joins a marching company in this city, without feeling that, if his life is not really in jeopardy, he is liable to be injured by a flying missile or beset by some of the fanatical mob.

Our political opponents traverse our streets without hindrance or molestation—and the same courteous treatment should be demanded for ourselves—Will the Gazette kindly urge upon the proper persons the necessity of looking after this matter?

REPUBLICAN.

The Gazette has no fears that the procession will be molested. We do not believe the democratic party in Janesville would countenance any such acts, and should an attempt be made to interfere with the demonstration as indicated by our correspondent, we believe our mayor, as well as most if not all the democratic party, would heartily co-operate with the republicans in bringing the "cowardly brats" guilty of such an act, to speedy justice—sure it is if such an act should take place, we pity the wretch, should the column lay hands on him. Fear not.

OBITUARY.

CLARA CHENEY.

After a protracted and painful illness, Miss Clara Cheney, second daughter of Henry Cheney, peacefully entered into rest at 7 o'clock last Saturday morning, at her home in the town of La Prairie.

The deceased was a lady of high order of christian character, and possessed those rare personal qualities of mind and heart which quietly exert a salutary influence in molding the lives of others while they conspire to form strong and lasting attachments. Clara was the idol and confidant of the household; while her constant self-denial for the good of others, her kind words, and deeds of beneficence won for her the love and respect of all who knew her. Her patient resignation under severe suffering, her fortitude in enduring the valley
